MORTIMER HISTORY SOCIETY

The Mortimer History Society was set up in 2009 to provide a forum for all who are interested in the mediaeval Mortimer dynasty, both to study and to publicise its eventful history. This will involve the study of the local and national history of the Mortimer family, paying particular attention to buildings, artefacts and documents linked with the Mortimers. They remained a powerful and important dynasty throughout 400 mediaeval years, and their story is a microcosm of English & Welsh mediaeval history. Mortimers were friends of Edwards I & III, and married into the English and Welsh royal families. Roger*, the de facto Regent of England, was the lover of Queen Isabelle, wife of Edward II. It is a story of lords, estates, castles, abbeys, battles, marriages, intrigues, and struggles for power that illustrate the life and fortunes of ruling families in mediaeval England.

*Roger and Edmund Mortimer

A memorial of two mediaeval knights in St Nicholas's Church, Montgomery, one of which might represent Sir Edmund Mortimer, who had served as Constable of Montgomery Castle. After his defeat at the battle of Pilleth, Edmund became Owain Glyndwr's son-in-law when he married Catrin Glyndwr. Edmund died during the long seige of Harlech Castle in 1409.
